THE KING OF KING STREET

100 King Street was designed by Edwin Lutyens in 1928 and constructed in 1933-35.

It is now the site of Jamie's Italian and Hotel Gotham and was previously home to Midland Bank.

When it was converted into a leisure space in 2010 it was rumoured that many valuable items were still left in the vaults including jewellery, gold and master tapes from Manchester bands Joy Division and New Order.
